The Register Refused a Mandamus Against the City.

Petit Jury was This Morning Impaneled in Circuit Court—Police Court News.

REGISTER LOSES MANDAMUS.

Judge L. D. Husbands this morning rendered a decision in circuit court refusing the mandamus of the Register Newspaper company against the City of Paducah, Mayor Yeiser, Auditor Kirkland and others, to force them to furnish the Register with a list of delinquent tax payers for the first half of taxes.

City taxes are under the present charter due June 1st and Dec. 1st. Judge Husbands holds that there is provided by statute only one tax sale and that as the city has but one sale it can legally advertise property but once. Hence he refused a mandamus to compel city officials to have part of the list published. The attorneys for the Register state they will take an appeal.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The second day of the December criminal term of McCracken circuit court began this morning with the empanelling of the petit jury, as follows: W. J. Hill, Charles Spinner, Baker Overstreet, T. J. Dossert, J. R. Beach, B. H. Smithers, C. K. Leonard, W. T. Harrison, Andy Witlock, R. E. Daffin, Jeff Gray, Josiah Pierce, Charles Roper, John Rogers, John W. Overstreet, N. J. Bowland, Dan Keithley, A. G. Budde, Stephen Wurth, J. J. Lane, G. W. Lee, R. J. Thompson, W. L. Arnold, Frank Rigsbeeberger.

The first case called for trial was that against Charles Gordon, colored, known as "Big Charlie," of Henderson for the murder of George Howard, white, a one legged man with whom Gordon had been shooting craps.

The murder was committed in the neighborhood of Maxon Mills during the summer of 1902 when the I. O. was building its extension tracks to Cairo. The two men were employed as laborers by the company and while shooting craps at the railroad camp got into a quarrel and Gordon killed the white man. Some little trouble was experienced in securing a jury but at 11 o'clock a jury satisfactory to both the prosecution and defense was procured and the case entered into. Attorneys J. S. Ross and Tom Orice represent the defense and the prosecution is being conducted by Prosecuting attorney W. E. Bradshaw and County Attorney Eugene Graves.

Al Winfrey was fined $25 and costs for gaming.

The false swearing case against Herbert Hawkins was reset for the sixth day.

Two forfeiture judgments were entered this morning. One was against C. W. Emery and others for $300, for the bond of Perry Bryant, who is charged with breaking into the Wallerstein store. The other is against O. H. Chamblin, who went Alderman Gus Singleton's bond when Mr. Singleton was summoned before the grand jury at the last sitting. Mr. Singleton claims he was ill and unable to appear. The forfeiture was $100.

The case against Charlie Gordon was still on trial at press time. Gordon was placed on the stand to testify this afternoon and stated that he and Howard had gotten into a skuffle and Howard said "one of us has got to die," and I tried to pull a gun. Gordon then grabbed the pistol and both fell to the ground, the pistol exploding as they fell, and inflicting the mortal wound. He has no proof to sustain his story except a negro named Rufus. The evidence will close this afternoon and the argument will begin. The case will probably be given to the jury before the afternoon session is over.

financed Amanda Shelley, alias McGhee, colored, $25 and costs for maintaining a disorderly house.

It seems that the Shelley woman runs a lodging house on South Ninth street and last night Della Williams, colored, applied for a room. Will Harris and the girl got into a dispute, resulting in a fight in which the Williams woman got a badly beaten face. Officers McNeil and Whitehurst arrested the two women and as the Shelley woman was simply trying to make peace, she explained, Judge Sanders gave her the benefit of the doubt and dismissed the breach of the peace charge against her.

The case against Harris was not tried, Harris not being under arrest.

The case against James Taylor and John Mann, for the alleged robbing of Jim Rogers of a watch last night near the Klondike saloon, was continued until tomorrow. It is said a brother of the alleged victim caught the other two on top of his brother robbing him, and ran them both down.

Frank Percy, white, was fined $1 and costs for loitering on the streets. Joseph Brenner was fined $1 and costs for being drunk.

Eliza Harris was fined $20 and costs for using insulting language towards another negro woman, and was further recognized in the sum of $300 for her good behavior for twelve months.

Tom Minus and Carrie McGathay, colored, pleaded guilty to fighting and were fined $10 and costs each.

The false swearing case against Daniel Jackson, colored, was continued. He is charged with swearing falsely in a case against a woman for running a boarding house without a license.

The breach of the peace case against Rudy Weikert, colored, was continued.

COUNTY COURT.

SUITS FILED.

Adolph Weil filed a suit against C. T. Benner and others to recover $500 alleged to be due on a note and asks for a general attachment against the defendants.

Baker, Eccles & Co. filed a suit against Redmeyer-Hollister Commission Co. to recover $333.45 alleged to have been lost in damages in a late shipment of sauerkraut. The plaintiff bought 133 barrels of kraut and it proved to be not up to contract, they claim, and they could not sell it. The plaintiffs claim the above damages and asks judgment for that amount and a general attachment.

BANKRUPTCY COURT.

Yesterday was the day set for hearing the bankrupt case against Julius Looser but on account of the illness of Looser the case was left open and no evidence was taken yesterday. By agreement the attorneys asked the court to set January 7th the day for hearing the case and if the court acts favorably in the request this will be the day for hearing. The referee will hear the evidence of Looser first.

JUSTICE BARBER'S COURT.

Wm. Pool, who lived about six miles out on the Benton road, was arrested yesterday by Constable Shelton on a breach of the peace warrant issued by Justice R. J. Barber at the instance of John Fagan who claims Pool drew an axe on him and threatened to kill him. The case will be tried Saturday and Pool is out on a $50 bond.

THE DAY'S FESTIVITIES

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 8.—The weather for the inauguration was bright and beautiful. There are fully fifteen thousand people in the city over 1000 being soldiers who add quite a great deal to the picturesque scene. The hosts come from every direction, and elaborate preparations had been made for them.

Frankfort is in gala attire, and while the heat of accommodation is not available, most of the people will be gone by night.

The inauguration of Governor W. C. P. Beckham at noon was without unusual incident. The program for the day was carried out without a hitch, and every visitor seems to be enjoying the occasion.

The report that the inaugural ball had been declared off is denied. It is announced that instead of one there will be two this year.

The inaugural ball will be the social event of the day, and hundreds of young people from the various neighboring cities will take part in the dance.

The stand upon which the inauguration ceremonies are to take place is in front of the state capitol.

An incident of the day will be a memorial service in the afternoon at the grave of the late Gov. Goebel in the State cemetery. Circuit Judge M. C. Sanley, of Lincoln county, has been invited to deliver the address, and one of the local ministers will conduct prayer service.

The gentlemen and ladies of the Administration who will form the receiving line at the reception before the inaugural ball this evening are announced as follows:

Y. M. C. A. Woman's Committee Elected Officers.

Report in Annual Meeting Showed $319.83 Raised Toward the Support of Association.

BOYS' OUTING CLUB ORGANIZED

The woman's committee of the Y. M. C. A. held its annual meeting at the association building yesterday afternoon. The annual election of officers was held, and a report of the year's work received. The old officers were re-elected, the only changes being that the office of secretary was combined with that of treasurer and the office of vice president, which had been vacant, was filled by the election of the former treasurer to that position. The officers are: Mrs. H. S. Wells, chairman, Mrs. L. S. DuBois, vice president and Miss Courtie Puryear secretary and treasurer.

The committee has raised the past year for the aid of the association, the sum of $319.82. A committee was appointed to confer with the men's board of the association, with regard to the interest of the institution and to secure co-operation between the two boards in giving the best support to the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. James A. Rudy was made chairman of this committee. Tea was served at the close of the meeting.

An outing club was organized in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. last night by Physical Director H. E. Steele. A cabin has been secured on Clark's river about seven miles from town as headquarters for the club, and Friday night of each week will be spent there, during both the summer and winter seasons. Various forms of out of door amusements will be indulged in, and in the winter, diversions appropriate to the evening fire will occupy the club's attention.

The cabin will be made comfortable with furnishings which the boys will secure from their homes and the woman's committee of the association will aid in making the place attractive. It will be known as "The Lodge," suggested by the idea of "a lodge in some vast wilderness." The club numbers at present ten members, and others are expected to join. It will likely be known as the George Rogers Clark club, which would be singularly appropriate, since Clark was the father of Paducah, a Kentucky pioneer, who made his home in the woods, and "The Lodge" is located on the river named in his honor.

The boys are very enthusiastic over the club and it promises to be one of the most interesting features of the boys' department.

The Y. M. C. A. board of directors will meet in regular monthly session at the association building tonight. State Secretary H. E. Rosevear of Louisville, will be present at the meeting.

A conference of the ministers of the city and others for the discussion of the religious conditions in Paducah, will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building next Tuesday evening.

WOMEN'S PAPER

ANOVETLY WILL SOON BE PUBLISHED IN LONDON.

London, Dec. 8.—William T. Stead announces that he will begin publishing a unique newspaper January 4. It probably will be known as "The Daily Paper," and be almost sociological in character. Girls will deliver the sheet at homes after the husband has gone to his business. The messengers will collect orders on tradesmen to be telephoned at the expense of the publisher from depots established for the purpose and the goods desired will be delivered collect by the storekeeper a few hours later.

Several other innovations are proposed along this line. The news columns will be devoted almost exclusively to news for home circles, no sporting or market items being published. Four editions are planned, each suited to the various divisions of the city.

Mr. Stead says the editorial views will be entirely political, but not partisan.

WHEN BABY IS COMING USE Mother's Friend

Woman's greatest dream of beauty and glory is when nature has chosen her to become a mother. Every faculty is keenly alert as she foresees the joy, ambition, success and the life-long satisfaction coming nearer, day by day, in the dear and innocent being so soon to see light, and the uncertainty whether she shall see a sweet girl or a brave boy face beside her on the pillow adds zest to her expectancy.

Mother's Friend applied externally throughout pregnancy will relieve the pain of parturition, and no mother and child can fail to be healthy, hearty, strong, clear complexioned, pure blooded and cheerful in disposition, who are mutually influenced by the continued use of this great liniment, MOTHER'S FRIEND.

THE VETERANS.

INMATES OF THE CONFEDERATE HOME TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE.

Preparations are being made by the Daughters of the Confederacy at Louisville to give the Confederate Veterans in the home at Pewee Valley a Christmas tree.

The Daughters of the Confederacy are hard at work on the plans for the Christmas entertainment, and it will be as enjoyable as the women can make it. A big dinner will be served with turkey and all the accompaniments of a regular, old-fashioned Christmas dinner. This will be served at noon and the tree will be lighted in the afternoon. It will be erected in the dining room at the home and will be the biggest that can be found. On it will be hung a gift for each man at the home, and besides, there will be candy, oranges, nuts and plenty of pretty, bright faces of maids and matrons to serve them to the veterans.

Newspaper Man's Woes

Editor Louis Landrum, of the Lancaster Record, transfers the following reverie to paper:

"Of all places in the world for mistakes a newspaper office affords most opportunities. There are a thousand ways to make errors where there are ten in any other vocation. Yet people are prone to show their heels when the newspaper man gets something wrong. The editors work more hours a day than any other class of people. They do not go to their work at 9 a. m., have an hour at noon, then quit at 3:30 or 4 p. m., but have to put in every minute of their time to keep soul and body together. Did you ever think what a large audience an editor addresses? Take a minister in a country town (we refer to country editors, of course), he has to speak to an average of two hundred people. He has nothing to do but get two sermons. Then take a country paper, for instance, the Record, which has a bona fide circulation of 1500. Expert paper men have calculated that there are three readers for every paper printed. That makes four thousand five hundred people you are expected to interest. Now, take the average speaker, lawyer, pastor or politician, and tell him he must speak to 4500 people, who have the time to ponder over every word he utters, and we will wager an old straw hat he would resign his job after the third or fourth address." In addition to the preparation of his manuscript, a country editor must solicit subscribers, wait on all visitors to his office, and then skirmish around to get enough money to pay from three to five people every week. We don't care to talk shop, but print this so you may know a little of the 'inside' of a printing office and make allowances when errors occur.

There are other things an editor must contend with, such as standing off half a dozen windy communications each week, contending with drunken or no account employees, protecting his property from careless handling, etc., and it is a wonder few editors live to be over fifty years of age. 'Why do they remain in the business?' is asked. Well, that is a question which never has nor never will be answered.

Oct. 1, 1903, Alvin L. Langley, 423 S. N. Jersey, Indianapolis, Ind., wrote: "I have used Kidney-Wort Tablets for diseased kidneys and bowel trouble. I tried numerous other remedies without getting any relief from the constant backache and burning sensation in the region of my kidneys, and habitual constipation, but after taking one bottle of Kidney-Wort Tablets I experienced such relief, that I cannot say enough in its praise. I have never had the least return of the trouble, although it has been almost a year since I took it."

THE HARPER.

Find His Companion.

A Man who used to play upon his Harp, and sing to it, in wine-shops and other small places of entertainment, was led, by the appetite which his efforts met with there, to desire a larger sphere in which to display his talents. He fancied that if he could only be once allowed to play and sing upon the stage of the public theater, renowned and fortune must assuredly follow. He tried long and hard, and at last gained the necessary permission; but in such a vast place, his strains seemed so weak, thin and wretched, that he was unanimously hissed off the stage.

What a waste of his talents! and how much might have been accomplished if he had only been allowed to play and sing in the small places of entertainment where he first began! He has at once exposed and lost himself to the world.

INFIRMARY NEEDED ALL OVER THE STATE

Bill to be Introduced for Confederates.

Both Hospital and Library are Needed at the Confederate Home.

A $20,000 APPROPRIATION

Members of the Kentucky division of the United Confederate Veterans' Association will present a bill at the coming session of the Legislature asking an appropriation for an infirmary and library building at the Confederate Home at Pewee Valley. The amount asked for will be $20,000. Three-fourths of the members of the Legislature have been interviewed on the question, and all have expressed themselves as being in favor of the appropriation.

Those interested in the Confederate Home have known for some time that an infirmary is a necessity at the home. At present there are almost two hundred inmates, and of these many are not able to care for themselves. The average of the inmates of the home is seventy-two years, the oldest being ninety and the youngest fifty-eight. When the home was purchased, it was not expected that the age of the inmates would be so great or that so many would come to it, so no provision was made for caring for the decrepit. The home was originally a hotel so there is no place to care for those who are ill.

Since the home was bought the ex-Confederates of Kentucky have contributed $10,000 for the purpose of furnishing and maintaining the home, this being in addition to the $125 a year which is allowed by the State for each man in the home. When the home was opened, rooms for fifty men were furnished, and now rooms for 150 have been furnished. In a short time the number of men in the home will be 200.

The library will be a part of the infirmary, and will not be a separate building. A Cincinnati woman, has promised to give enough to furnish the library complete.

The movement for the establishment of the infirmary was begun at the gathering of the Kentucky division of the Confederate Veterans in Louisville October 28. At that time the question was brought up and Col. Young, as commander, was authorized to select a committee of twenty-five of the leading Confederates throughout the State to work for the bill.

COUGHING SPELL

CAUSED DEATH.

Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for a physician, but before he could arrive, another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation.—St. Louis Globe Democrat, Dec. 1, 1901. Ballard's Horehound Syrup would have saved him. 25c, 50c and $1 at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

NOT BURIED YET

ACTION OF CHARLES FRIEL'S PEOPLE COLD BLOODED.

The remains of Charles Friel, the printer who died in the city hospital here several days ago from the effects of a fall from the I. C. bridge at Cairo, are still at Nance & Spaulding's. His relatives at St. Louis have regarded the appeals to them to furnish means to bury him in a most cold-blooded manner. It is said that he has a sister and one or two brothers in St. Louis, one of his brothers being on one of the St. Louis papers, according to information received here.

A young man understood to be Friel's nephew was here Saturday, but beyond talking of bringing a damage suit against the railroad company and looking at the body, he did nothing except return home. The typographical union will bury Friel as soon as the International association forwards the authority and funds.

The Tobacco exchange at Louisville has laid the application of the home warehouse on the table until the home withdraws its damage suits.

LET WORTEN DO THE WORK

The good work has started. Only a short time ago the city made a contract with a local attorney to give him half of whatever amount he collected from telegraph and telephone companies for the pole rent. It is the city solicitor's duty to do this and the city solicitor is paid a salary and should do it without extra charge, but the boards preferred to refer it to an outside attorney and agree to give him half of what he gets. It was not long after that until members of the boards, most of them fast friends of the administration, met and gave this same outside attorney another job by authorizing him to bring the bond suit, another duty of the city solicitor, and agreed to pay him $200 for it. This was a little too much for the boards, and they turned it down. Now the council comes to the front and proposes to give the same outside attorney another job by paying him $200 for revising ordinances passed since last year and seeing that they are placed in the book with the others—another duty of the city solicitor. The people—the taxpayers—want all this sort of work done right, and while they do not blame the attorney for getting all of it that he can at as good a price as he can, certainly it is not proper to make the taxpayers pay extra for work they have already paid the city solicitor to do. If these odd jobs at extra charge given to the outside attorney are intended as part of the pay he is to receive for being the most prominent and indefatigable speaker the Democrats had in the recent campaign, the people will insist on the successful city officials paying him out of their own pockets. If the officials think the city solicitor cannot do the work he is paid to do, why don't they frankly tell him so, and pay these extra lawyers' bills out of his salary? If they think he can do the work that the city seems so eager to pay extra for, why don't they let him do it? The whole thing looks like graft, and nothing else.

NEW STATE OFFICERS.

Governor W. O. P. Beckham was today inaugurated to serve a term of our more years as chief executive.

He was elected by the people, fairly we believe, and we trust that the experience he has already had, nearly four years, has more fully equipped him to give the people of Kentucky a creditable administration. What has occurred in Kentucky in the past, whatever outrages may have been perpetrated against a free people and free ballot, is now all past and gone, and we have the present and the future to deal with. All of us have to differ some time and we shall doubtless unfortunately have occasion to differ in the future, but the governor of the commonwealth is governor of us all, and is entitled to our respect and good will.

This Governor Beckham has, and will continue to have as long as he tries to do right. If he has made mistakes in the past, he will probably make fewer in the future. We hope and trust that the new officers sworn in today will give the people a clean, capable administration. Governor Beckham is a young man of promise who cannot afford to jeopardize a bright future by wilful transgressions of good policy. We believe he will hold the confidence and esteem of the people as long as he deserves it. As good citizens we should all wish for the best for our state and the people. It is to be hoped that the next four years will be prosperous and happy ones for Kentucky.

THE ENTERPRISE THAT TELLS.

Henderson has just landed a plum in the shape of a $1,000,000 car factory. It will be a big industry and will bring to the place from 800 to 1000 new workmen. How did Henderson do it? Her citizens took $100,000 worth of the stock. What will be the result? Cottages will have to be built for the new residents and their families. This will mean more work for the builders, painters, plasterers and others. It will set thousands of dollars into circulation, and after the new factory is complete, the 800 or 1000 skilled workmen will begin earning good wages and the money will be spent with Henderson's merchants.

This is the way to build up a city. Every new industry means more inhabitants, more houses, more money and a larger, more prosperous city.

It is the enterprise of such cities as Henderson that makes it necessary for other cities desiring to grow and prosper to adopt similar methods of landing the big factories that are always seeking more desirable locations. These industries expect to be benefited by changes in their location, and they naturally go where they are benefited the most. There is competition among cities for good enterprises just as there is competition among merchants for good and desirable sales, and "the tallest pole will knock the persimmon, every time."

THE USUAL MESS.

The hopes of having the streets paved next year are already rudely jarred by the cheering information that the suit to establish the validity of the bonds may not run the gauntlet of the courts before next July. In this event we shall probably have the remainder of next year in which to issue the bonds, sell them, advertise for bids, and let the contract—probably sufficient time even for a Paducah Democratic administration. The $1.85 crowd can always be counted on to make a huge botch of everything it undertakes. The people have voted the money and want the street improvements, but they will have to wait until the city officials get through with their usual "piddlin' around."

The rubber hose people seem to have an ingenious way of explaining their efforts to sell goods for as much as they think they can get out of a town. Cairo is now wrought up over the fact that hose offered them at $1 was offered by the same company to a representative of Cairo who claimed to represent another town, at 90 cents. The company naively says that its hose is different in quality, although it may appear to be identical to the same. As one hose company expatiates: "there may be a semblance, but it hasn't the same class the same high grade for that which he procured here is such as is made for small towns, like Grand Island for instance, where they have light water pressure, and infrequent use for the hose." This is very good, but not very convincing.

It is said that every point the court of appeals is asked to pass on in the ex parte petition to establish the validity of the city bonds recently voted, has already been decided by the court in appeals in other cases. If this is true, why waste time in such a needless procedure? If any further test is desired, why not let the other fellow make it?

Up in Zion City it is a case of "button, button, who's got the button."

Dowie says he's short of pocket change and there is no doubt of the impecunious plight of the Dowieites themselves. Where has all the money gone? Did Mrs. Dowie, fearing Rockefeller, Morgan and Uncle Russell Sage, take it all to Australia with her?

Secretary of War Root advises all young men to learn to shoot straight, but he does not mean with a cheap pistol. Besides, it does not apply to some parts of Kentucky, where they would be better off if they could miss occasionally.

Some of the saloon men who were so enthusiastic for the Democratic ticket a few weeks ago, are now wondering what they are going to do with the white elephant they have on their hands.

Why should we have a board of public works? The legislative boards will doubtless see that the money is spent fast enough.

Comptroller Ridgely recommends a more elastic currency. We'd like one that will stretch over his way a little.

THE MAYOR JOKES

HE SAYS WHOM HE WOULD LIKE TO HAVE ON THE LIBRARY BOARD.

Mayor D.A. Yelzer stated last night during the council meeting that he intended making out his list of library trustees and would do so before the meeting of the board of aldermen Thursday night.

Mayor Yelzer is inclined to joke about his appointments in order to put off reporters and when asked whom he would appoint on the board stated that five members he had already selected, and he thought he could make no better selections than Father Coffey, Attorney Joe Folk, Sam Jones, Father Hall and Carrie Nation.

BACK FROM LEXINGTON.

Theatrical Notes.

Manager James E. English, of the Kentucky theater, was this morning asked in regard to the posters against which the ministers complained at the meeting of the Ministerial association yesterday. Manager English only laughed. "Why," he said, "I don't see any occasion for any such complaint. The posters put up here are identically the same put up in every city in the country. I pay the city a heavy license to do business. The bill posters pay the city a license to do business. We violate no law, and have a right to put up any sort of poster we desire so long as it is legitimate. Those that are posted elsewhere are probably legitimate here. The city has nothing to do with what is placed on the bill boards. We violate no law, and so far as the complaint is concerned—" Manager English only laughed again.

The Scarecrow in "The Wizard of Oz," the principal comedy role in the new extravaganza, is said to be a remarkable example of clever make-up. Indeed the costume and make-up are so marvelously realistic that when the Scarecrow is first lifted on the stage and leans against the stile very few people in the audience believe that the figure is that of a real man. He not only looks like a rag dummy, a veritable man of straw, but he so closely counterfeits the rigidity of a dummy that nearly all of the spectators in the audience are convinced that this manikin will presently be replaced to the accompaniment of some hoarse yells by the real live comedian so essential to the play. At The Kentucky Friday night. Seats on sale Thursday 10 a. m. Curtain positively up at 8 sharp.

Miss Edna Farrell, who played at the park theater here for several years and is one of the most popular actresses ever in Paducah, has been very ill at her home here for several weeks past. Manager J. E. English, of the Kentucky theater, has decided to give her a benefit at The Kentucky in the near future. He will have a performance by some company that plays here Saturday night and can remain over until Sunday afternoon and play a benefit performance. No time or company have yet been decided on, but it is safe to say that the theater will be well filled by admirers of Miss Farrell when the benefit is given.

The play, the company and the stage equipment of "The Two Little Waifs" by Lincoln J. Carter which comes to The Kentucky Saturday matinee and night is far above the average furnished at the popular prices houses. Unlike so many melodramas this piece does not rely on steamboat and railroad explosions, pile driving and river accidents, blood curdling murder, and the like, for its popularity but is on straight, legitimate acting that the piece finds its way into the heart of every one—man, woman and child.

John Blackford, one of the end men with Al G. Field's minstrels, which was here a week ago, died suddenly yesterday from apoplexy at Charleston, W. Va. His home was in St. Joseph, Mo., and he was known in this country and England as the "Coon from Arkansas." Mr. Blackford will be remembered here as the man who sang "They'll Talk About You Anyhow," who played "Uncle Remus," a new member, and who was the elephant in the performance here last week.

The attraction at The Kentucky Thursday night is Sam T. Jack's Own Burlesque company, and it is rated as one of the best organizations on the road. The costumes are all the limit attained in the dressmakers' art, the ladies of the chorus have been selected with special care with the view of having the prettiest and most charming gathering of girls obtainable. The opening portion of the bill is a unique musical review entitled "A Night at the Circus," scintillating with wit and humor, song and story.

"A Royal Slave," which comes to this city Wednesday night will prove an innovation in the way of melodrama, as it is a distinct novelty, both as to theme and scenic embellishment. The plot of the play is taken from General Lew Wallace's great story "The Fair God," which is sufficient guarantee of its literary merit. The many beautiful scenes have been painted from photographs taken in Mexico especially for this production and are said to be magnificent examples of the scenic painter's art.

The Black Patti Troubadours had a well filled house last night at The Kentucky. The gallery and balcony were full and there was a large crowd down stairs. The show is as usual good, and the comedy work, chorus and operatic singing were first class and elicited great applause. Sessaretta Jones, the "Black Patti," has a wonderful voice and her operatic renditions were most creditable. The Troubadours give a good show and enjoyed good houses here.

Manager J. E. English this morning announced that he will have six weeks of repertoire at the close of the season at The Kentucky. The season will end about the middle of April, perhaps earlier, and he wants to run repertoire until the first of June. He already has six different repertoire companies in sight for the six weeks.

Miss Eloise Elliston, who played "Marguerite" in "Fanny" here Saturday, was not a stranger to Paducah theatergoers. She was here last season in "The Prisoner of Zenda," playing "Princess Flavia."

Mr. James S. McQuade, in advance of Miss Elita Procter Otis, who plays Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler" here shortly, is at the Palmer today.

Mr. Lewis Morrison, who was here Saturday, deserted his private car at Louisville for the hotels, and sent his car to the paint shop.

Today Charles Dalton in "A Gentleman from France" was booked by The Kentucky for March 14.

The Kentucky theater has just been thoroughly equipped with patent fire extinguishers.

SMALL BLAZE TODAY.

The Central fire department was called to the residence of John Moore, colored, at 423 South Seventh street this morning about 10 o'clock to extinguish a small blaze in the roof. The fire originated from a defective flue and was put out before any damage was done.

ON FOOD

THE RIGHT FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Proper food is the foundation of health. People can eat improper food for a time and not feel any ill results until there is a sudden collapse of the digestive organs and then all kinds of trouble follows.

The proper way out of the difficulty is to shift to the pure, scientific food, Grape Nuts, for it rebuilds from the foundation up. An New Hampshire woman says: "Last summer I was suddenly taken with indigestion and severe stomach trouble and could not eat food without great pain; my stomach was so sore I could hardly move about. This kept up until I was so miserable life was not worth living.

"Then a friend finally, after much argument, induced me to try Grape Nuts food and quit my regular food. Although I had but little faith I commenced to use it and great was my surprise to find that I could eat it without the usual pain and distress in my stomach. So I kept on using Grape Nuts and soon a marked improvement was shown, for my stomach was performing its regular work in a normal way without pain or distress.

"Very soon the yellow coating disappeared from my tongue, the dull heavy feeling in my head disappeared and my mind felt light and clear; the languid tired feeling left, and although I felt as if I had been rebuilt. Strength and weight came back rapidly and I went back to my work with renewed ambition. Today I am a new woman in mind as well as body and I owe it all to this natural food Grape Nuts." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Look in each package for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

The SKY PILOT

By RALPH CONNOR

Author of

"The Man From Gilead"

"Gilead School Days" and "Black Rock"

Copyright, 1899, by FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY

"Light began to dawn upon me, but I only answered that I knew they had risen very considerably in value within a month. The extra fifty was Bill's."

I was not present to witness the finishing of Bill's bluff, but was told that when Bill made his way through the crowded aisle and laid his $500 on the schoolhouse desk the look of disgust, surprise and finally of pleasure on Robble's face was worth a hundred more. But Robble was ready and put down his $200 with the single remark "Aye, ye're no naft as ye look!"

Then the Pilot, with eyes and face shining, rose and thanked them all, but when he told of how the little girl in her lonely shack in the hills thought so much of the church that she gave up for it her beloved pony, her one possession, the light from his eyes glowed in the eyes of all.

CHAPTER XVIII.

THE LADY CHARLOTTE.

THE night of the pilot's sale was a night momentous to Gwen, for then it was that the Lady Charlotte's interest in her began; momentous, too, to the Lady Charlotte, for it was that night that brought the Pilot into her life.

I had turned back to the fire, around which the men had fallen into groups, prepared to have an hour's solid delight, for the scene was full of wild and picturesque beauty to me, when the Duke came and touched me on the shoulder.

"Lady Charlotte would like to see you."

"And why, pray?"

"She wants to hear about this affair of Bill's."

We went through the kitchen into the large dining room, at one end of which was a stone chimney and fireplace. Lady Charlotte had declared that she did not much care what kind of a house the Hon. Fred would build for her, but that she must have a fireplace.

She was very beautiful—tall, slight and graceful in every line. There were a reserve and a grand air in her bearing that put people in awe of her. This awe I shared, but as I entered the room she welcomed me with such kindly grace that I felt quite at ease in a moment.

"Come and sit by me," she said, drawing an armchair into the circle about the fire. "I want you to tell me all about a great many things."

"You see what you're in for, Connor," said her husband. "It is a serious business when my lady takes me in hand."

"As he knows to his cost," she said, smiling and sinking her head at her husband.

"So I can testify," put in the Duke.

"Ah! I can't do anything with you," she replied, turning to him.

"Your most obedient slave," he replied, with a profound bow.

"If you only were," smiling at him—a little sadly, I thought—"I'd keep you out of all sorts of mischief."

"Quite true, Duke," said her husband. "Just look at me."

The Duke gazed at him a moment or two. "Wonderful!" he murmured.

"What a deliverance!"

"Nonsense," broke in Lady Charlotte. "You are turning my mind away from my purpose."

"Is it possible, do you think?" said the Duke to her husband.

"Not in the very least," he replied. "If my experience goes for anything."

But Lady Charlotte turned her back upon them and said to me:

"Now, tell me first about Bill's encounter with that funny little Scotchman."

Then I told her the story of Bill's bluff in my best style, imitating, as I have some small skill in doing, the manner and speech of the various actors in the scene. She was greatly amused and interested.

"And Bill has really got his share ready?" she cried. "It is very clever of him."

"Yes," I replied, "but Bill is only the very humble instrument. The moving spirit is behind."

"Oh, yes, you mean the little girl that owns the pony," she said. "That's another thing you must tell me about."

"The Duke knows more than I," I replied, shifting the burden to him. "My acquaintance is only of yesterday; his is lifelong."

"Why have you never told me of her?" she demanded, turning to the Duke.

"I haven't told you of the little Meredith girl? Surely I have," said the Duke hesitatingly.

"Now, you know quite well you have not, and that means you are deeply interested. Oh, I know you well," she said severely.

"He is the most secretive man," she went on to me—"shamefully and ungratefully reserved."

The Duke smiled; then said lazily: "Why, she's just a child. Why should you be interested in her? No one was," he added sadly, "ill-misfortune distinguished her."

Her eyes grew soft, and her gay manner changed, and she said to the Duke gently, "Tell me of her now."

It was evidently an effort, but he began:

As we saw her first, years ago, playing to and out of her father's rambling shack, shy and wild as a young fox. As he went on with his tale his voice dropped into a low, musical tone, and he seemed as if dreaming aloud. I'm consciously he put into the tale much of himself, revealing how great an influence the little child had had upon him and how empty of love his life had been in this lonely land. Lady Charlotte listened with face intent upon him, and even her bluff husband was conscious that something more than usual was happening. He had never heard the Duke break through his proud reserve before.

But when the Duke told the story of Gwen's awful fall, which he did with great graphic power, a little red spot burned upon the Lady Charlotte's pale cheek, and as the Duke finished his tale with the words, "It was her last ride," she covered her face with her hand and cried:

"Oh, Duke, it is horrible to think of! But what splendid courage!"

"Great stuff, eh, Duke?" cried the Hon. Fred, kicking a burning log vigorously.

But the Duke made no reply.

"How is she now, Duke?" said Lady Charlotte.

The Duke looked up as from a dream. "Bright as the morning," he said. Then, in reply to Lady Charlotte's look of wonder, he added:

"The Pilot did it. Connor will tell you. I don't understand it."

"Nor do I either, but I can tell you only what I saw and heard," I answered.

"Tell me," said Lady Charlotte very gently.

Then I told her how, one by one, we had failed to help her, and how the Pilot had ridden up that morning through the canyon, and how he had brought the first light and peace to her by his marvelous pictures of the dowers and ferns and trees and all the wonderful mysteries of that wonderful canyon.

"But that wasn't all," said the Duke quickly as I stopped.

"No," I said slowly; "that was not all by a long way, but the rest I don't understand. That's the Pilot's secret."

"Tell me what he did," said Lady Charlotte softly once more. "I want to know."

"I don't think I can," I replied. "He simply read out of the Scriptures to her and talked."

Lady Charlotte looked disappointed.

"Is that all?" she said.

"It is quite enough for Gwen," said the Duke confidently, "for there she lies, often suffering, always longing for the hills and the free air, but with her face radiant as the flowers of the beloved canyon."

"I must see her," said Lady Charlotte, "and that wonderful Pilot."

"You'll be disappointed in him," said the Duke.

"Oh, I've seen him and heard him, but I don't know him," she replied.

"There must be something in him that one does not see at first."

"So I have discovered," said the Duke, and with that the subject was dropped, but not before the Lady Charlotte made me promise to take her to them, the Duke being strangely unwilling to do this for her.

"You'll be disappointed," he said. "She is only a simple little child."

CHAPTER XIX.

THROUGH GWEN'S WINDOW.

WHEN I told the Pilot of Lady Charlotte's purpose to visit him, Gwen was not too well pleased. "What does she want with Gwen?" he said impatiently. "She will just put notions into her head and make the child discontented."

"Why should she?" said I.

"She won't mean to, but she belongs to another world, and Gwen cannot talk to her without getting glimpses of a life that will make her long for what she can never have," said the Pilot.

"But suppose it is not like curiosity in Lady Charlotte," I suggested.

"I don't say it is quite that," he answered, "but these people love a sensation."

DECLINES THE JOB

Prof. Clark Writes That He Had Been Misinformed.

Declines the Superintendency As Offered By the Present Board of Education.

APPLIES UNDER NEW BOARD

Mr. Frank B. May, who was selected last week at the caucus of members of the board of education-elect, as secretary, is in receipt of a letter from Prof. E. S. Clark, of Nevada, Mo., who was elected superintendent of the Paducah public schools by the present board at the regular meeting last Tuesday, stating that he has written Secretary Sutherland, of the old board, declining the position as offered to him by the old board.

Prof. Clark states that he was laboring under a misapprehension when he made application to the old board, and upon learning that the new board should properly elect the superintendent to fill the vacancy which will not exist until January 1, he wrote Secretary Sutherland declining to accept.

Prof. Clark applies for the position subject to the action of the new board when it takes its seat January 4. Prof. Evans, of Marion, who is also a candidate, declined to apply to the old board, saying he would accept only from the new board.

Secretary Arch Sutherland, of the old board, stated this morning that he has not yet received the letter from Prof. Clark declining the superintendency, but it is supposed it is on its way and will arrive today or tomorrow.

The members of the old board will not likely take any further action now.

Some of them seemed to regret the next day that they elected a superintendent last Tuesday and talked of calling another meeting to reconsider.

The advent of Prof. Clark into the race makes three candidates talk of. One of Prof. C. A. Norvell, of Paducah, and the others Profs. Evans of Marion, Ky., and Clark, of Nevada, Mo.

RAILROAD NOTES

The Mr. Vernon (Ind.) Democrat says: "Messrs. Wheeler and Harwood, of the I. O. railway, spent last week in Mr. Vernon conferring with the city officials regarding the extension of the New Harmony branch on to that city. If the E. and T. H. will grant them switching privileges they felt confident the road would be built. It is believed to be their intention to extend the road on to Uniontown, Ky., and connect with their southern system."

Mr. Lorenzo Pike, representative of the Pullman car company at Louisville, has resigned, and will be succeeded by Mr. J. C. Morrison. Louisville will hereafter be a division headquarters for the Pullman company, all cars running into that city to be under the supervision of Mr. Morrison, who was formerly the company's representative at New Orleans.
